

The vast majority of companies expect an industrial control systems (ICS) cybersecurity attack to happen to them.

The energy sector experienced the most coordinated vulnerabilities in 2016

