

State Population and Representation

Of states that have mixed-party representation, three are in the top ten most populated states, and two are in the top ten least populated states. However, In both the top ten least and most populated states, eleven of twenty senators caucus with the Democrats.

